

Lauren, Rob & Evan Gallina

Born and raised in Rochester, Lauren, Rob and Evan attended Our Lady of Mercy High School and McQuaid Jesuit, respectively. Lauren went on to attend Loyola University in Baltimore and later went back to get her Executive MBA at the Simon School of Business. She has been named to the Rochester Business Journal's 40 Under 40 and was a finalist for the ATHENA Young Professional Award. Rob attended Fairfield University in Connecticut, where he played soccer and majored in Business. Evan attended Siena College in Albany where he played lacrosse and majored in Economics. All three have now found their way back to the family business, Gallina Development Corporation. Founded by their grandfather, and grown by their father, Gallina Development now owns and manages commercial and residential space in and around Monroe County. Most recently, Gallina has taken the former Chase Tower and transformed it into what is now The Metropolitan, a dynamic mixed use building for commercial and residential tenants. They have also opened up a restaurant in the lobby, Bar Bantam.

At a young age, Lauren, Rob and Evan were taught that spending time helping others was an important part of belonging to a community. Because of this, they spend much of their free time volunteering with several not-for-profit organizations locally including The Center for Youth, Teen Empowerment, The Landmark Society, Leadership Rochester, The Make A Wish Foundation and Vertus High School. This year Lauren, Rob and Evan are excited to Chair the 2019 United Way Campaign alongside their parents, Andy & Karen.
